SIX DEFENDANTS WERE ACQUITTED

Jury Took Five Ballots Before They Cleared the Alleged White-cappers.

VERDICT WAS ANTICIPATED

Judge Sparks Admonished Crowd in Court Room to Refrain From Any Demonstration.

The five men and one woman accused of riotous conspiracy and whitecapping John Tribbey on the night of August fifth were acquitted by a jury of their peers last night after the jury took five ballots on the case. The first ballot resulted in four votes for conviction and eight for acquittal; the following two stood three for conviction and nine for acquittal, and the fourth showed that two still held out for conviction, while ten voted for acquittal. The jury then went to the Windsor hotel had supper and returning east but one ballot, all voting for acquittal.

There was great rejoicing among the defendants and the members of their families who remained in the court room after the jury took the case.

During the time the jury was deliberating there was a conflict of emotions on the part of those vitally interested for their liberty was at stake. It was thought by many when the jury did not return a verdict after being out an hour it would result in a hung jury. The prosecution hardly anticipated anything better than a hung jury in view of the evidence they had in hand. They were handicapped at the start on account of the bad reputation borne by the prosecuting witness, John Tribbey, for scores of men from all walks of life came into the open court and testified that he was a character that bore a bad reputation, morally and for truth and veracity. The State had to depend wholly upon the testimony of Tribbey in order to hope for a conviction, but his testimony was impeached by at least fifty reputable and representative citizens, while not one had a good word to say in his behalf.

When Judge Sparks read the verdict a spell of awe fell upon the court room, but just for the moment, as the defendants were soon eagerly pressing forward to shower the jurors with words of congratulation. It meant an exoneration and vindication for an entire neighborhood. Tears were in the eyes of many and it was indeed a touching scene.

Mrs. Tribbey accompanied friends to the Ball home and spent the night, while Tribbey went alone to the "old home place." It is likely that she will immediately institute proceedings for divorce.

Lafayette Hall was chosen foreman of the jury and it was decided that they would vote on the innocence or guilt of all the defendants at the same time instead of separately.

Judge Sparks appreciating that the early verdict meant an acquittal, admonished those assembled in the court room that he would permit no demonstration.

"I do not permit any demonstration when this verdict is received," said the court, "for it would be altogether improper at this time and place."

A Final Word

One of the funny incidents of the trial came at a very serious period. Mrs. Tribbey was testifying and her testimony was of an important character. All was quiet in the court room for the woman could not speak very loud or distinctly. Of a sudden the stillness was broken and smashed to smithereens by the squalls of a nursing infant. The woman tossed the little one up and down, but it had so much to let out of a pair of lusty lungs that it would not leave off. Judge Sparks frowned. Finally he spoke. He told the mother she must repair to the corridor with the infant until it elected to keep still. The mother labored on, softly croaning, but paying little heed to the court's instructions. And the baby kept on crying. "Mr. Bailiff," said the court, "have that lady take the baby out for a while." Smilingly, but with fear behind the smile, Grant Gregg did as requested. The woman frowned and left the court room. But she was back in an instant. Some wondered what in the world she did with the baby and upon inquiry it was found that a big, tall man was pacing up and down the corridor with the squalling "young 'en." "Who was that woman?" he was asked. "That's my wife," he replied. "Dog gone it, I was just coming up the stairs to hear some of this trial when she came out and made me take the kid. And she's heard most all of this blame thing while all I know about it is what I read. Don't get the best part of it. This is what I get after I hustled to get my work through this forenoon—dog gone it—but that's women for you—everytime."

It was really cruel. All the witnesses in the whitecapping case were excluded from the court room and they stood about the entrance to the court room trying to catch a word of testimony ever and anon. Think of being excluded from hearing something you were vitally interested in that concerned yourself and your neighbors, and look at the inquisition days as being holidays in comparison.

Some said the whitecapping cases would cost Rush county $200. That amount wouldn't begin to touch the costs in this case.

Many of the jurors have the five cent theater habit and for a while will be unable to lay down to peaceful slumber at night without at least hearing a phonograph play.

There were fifty-seven varieties of witnesses in this case. You never saw anything like it. Every sort of a specimen of humanity you could imagine was on the witness stand during the course of the trial. Here is a partial list: Man without legs; tallest man in the county—nearly seven feet in height; one of the fattest women; one of the frailest women; young boy; old men shaking with palsy and old age; every type of a farmer you ever saw; merchants; real estate men; lawyers; newspaper men; colored fellow; Jew and Jewish woman; bucolic comedians; stern, crabbed men; frightened young misses; grand jurymen; court stenographers; rich farmers; poor farm hands; country squires; school officials; doctors; politicians, in fact everything and anything in the way of a human, and some that would hardly be considered human.

The members of the firm of Watson, Titsworth & Green have been invited to attend a turkey dinner at the McFatridge home in the near future. It will be a postponed Thanksgiving dinner affair, that heretofore has been held annually, but was dispensed with this year on account of the cloud of trouble hanging over the family hearthstone.

It was a rather unusual procedure that of the jurymen taking an oath before they left the jury room that they would never divulge how any man voted during the times they deliberated five times. It would be a good plan for all jurymen to emulate and a practice worthy of adoption.

Prosecutor Hack will probably make a motion now for Judge Sparks to dismiss the charge against Guernsey Drysdale, the accused whitecap, who elected to have a separate trial. Hack inferred as much before he left yesterday.

Two of the jurymen—names withheld on account of it being so near Yuletide—got lost in the Windsor hotel. They were rooming together and one night this week decided to take a foot bath. They wandered down the hall, down to the second floor and into the bath room where they performed the ceremony with care and precision. When they started back they lost their way in the hall and brought up on the fourth floor outside the doors of the employes quarters, where they cried aloud for help. A cook in pajamas escorted them back to their room.

"Who regulates the clock?" asked a fellow yesterday. "Nobody regulates it; that's the trouble," said another.

It is planned to take the court house clock out and assault it if it does not keep better time. Since the whitecapping cases begun the clock has been off from five to ten minutes, both fast and slow. It acts worse than John Tribbey when he had his hands tied.

John Plough assisted the janitors in cleaning the court room during the big trial. The reason they employed him was probably on account of the great quantity of dirt that accumulated each day. It would require a "Plough" to break it before the sweepers could move it.

For those who like to hear an oratorical gem and those who appreciate a forcible and brilliant argument from a legal standpoint, it was well worth a dollar to have the privilege and opportunity of hearing Watson before the jury yesterday. As a pleading lawyer he stands without a peer in Indiana. Watson has been in eighteen big cases in this State, on both sides, and in innumerable lesser ones, and has yet to be on the losing side of a prominent trial.

Clifford Lee, staff correspondent of the Indianapolis Star remained here during the trial and partook of edibles "like mother used to bake and is still baking" at the Lee home—stead in Jersey City on the classic banks of Flatrock. Lee is now the first man on the Star in the point of position on the reportorial staff and is making good.

In his closing argument, Prosecutor Hack said that later in his speech he desired to pay a tribute to the Daily Republican, but evidently forgot it in the great mass of testimony he had to review. It was rather unusual for one in such a capacity to make a declaration of this order, and in such a prominent case; we heartily appreciate it and more so because it comes from one of opposite political faith. Mr. Hack thanked us personally saying we not only published a complete story from day to day, but one that was fair and consistent for both the cause of the State and the defense.

Everybody is tickled to death that the whitecapping cases have been disposed of. Now let us turn our attention away from Tribbey and get our minds on Santa Claus.

One fellow, who declared he had been following the whitecap trial closely was on the streets the night before the jury got the case and wanted to bet another fellow that Tribbey would get at least two years. He thought they were trying Tribbey.

Now is the time to say a word or two in a sermonizing way. It does seem like a shame that attorneys are obliged to have a lot of obscene and vulgar testimony introduced in some trials that cause of justice might be served, but the burning shame is that women attend such trials, when they have other interest than idle curiosity.

The jurymen were like young colts turned out on pasture when they were discharged last night. After being away from "home and loved ones" ten days they were mighty glad to return.

CORN GROWERS LOOKING AHEAD

Rush County Farmers Will Take Advantage of Annual Meeting at Purdue.

PROGRAM IS VERY ATTRACTIVE

Some of the Best Talent in the Country Secured to Give Authoritative Lectures.

The ninth annual meeting of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association will be held January 13, 1909 at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. The meeting will be in connection with the Farmers' Short Course, receiving a most prominent place on the program for the week. It is found that by holding the association meeting at this time in connection with the Farmers' Short Course that the speakers secured at a great cost, are heard by a larger number of farmers and that there is a greater financial saving both to the individual members and the association.

The program this year is an unusually attractive and strong one. Professor W. H. Stevenson of the Soil Department of the Iowa State College, will discuss "The Conservation of the Soil;" Mr. A. E. Reynolds, President Crabbs, Reynolds, Taylor Company of Crawfordsville, will discuss "Pure Clover Seed and How to Obtain It." DeWitt C. Wing, associate editor of the Breeders' Gazette, Chicago, will give a talk on "More Corn to the Acre," while C. A. R. we of Jacksonville, Ill., President of the Illinois Corn Growers' Association, will criticize the exhibits of corn at the State show.

Everyone interested in corn improvements should plan to attend this meeting and hear these speakers. It will pay to do so.

Programs for the meeting, premium lists for the State corn show, and other information can be had by applying to G. I. Christie, secretary, Lafayette, Ind.

NEXT ON BOARDS IS BLIND TIGER CASE

Will Attract Many Carthage People to This City on Next Monday.

CHARGES AGAINST DRUGGIST

No doubt there will be a large number of Carthage people here next Monday to attend the "Blind Tiger" trial. A number of indictments were returned against McLain, a Carthage druggist, at a special session of the grand jury. It was charged that he sold liquors in less quantities than a quart and without a prescription as required by law. The alleged offenses are said to have occurred while a rally was in progress during the recent campaign.

WATSON LATE FOR SCHOOL

Last Congressman to Take His Seat—Left For East Today.

Congressman Watson, who has been assisting in the Tribbey whitecap case, left for Washington this morning to attend congress. Mr. Watson is the last congressman to take his desk. Uncle Joe will probably give Watson several demerits for tardiness.

YOUNG LIFE COME TO SUDDEN ENDING

Miss Josephine Gruell Died Following an Operation For Appendicitis Sexton Sanitarium.

DIED EARLY THIS MORNING

Miss Josephine Gruell, nineteen years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gruell of New Salem, died this morning at the Sexton sanitarium, following an operation for appendicitis.

The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Hetrick in the M. P. church in New Salem Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The remains will be brought to East Hill cemetery for burial.

The death of Miss Gruell comes as a blow to her parents and young friends as it was thought that she would recover.

CHARLES L. NESBIT WANTS A DIVORCE

Railroad Man, Formerly of This City, Makes Sensational Charges Against Wife.

FIRST SUIT WAS WITHDRAWN

Charles Nesbit, formerly of this city, and traveling passenger agent for the Pennsylvania railroad, instituted proceedings for divorce from his wife in the Marion court according to the Indianapolis Star. Charges of a sensational character are made against his wife. It will be remembered that Nesbit sued for divorce about one year ago and the case was afterwards dismissed. Megee & Kiplinger of this city represent the plaintiff.

A elaborate menu has been prepared and several local members are on the program for toasts. Big preparations are being made and an enjoyable time is assured to all those who may attend.

WANTED PAY FOR HAULING A GIRL

Bennett, Driver of School Wagon in Orange Township, Sued Harcourt and Kney for $7.

DID NOT LIVE IN THE DISTRICT

And Bennett Claimed That it Was Not His Duty to Carry Young Woman to School.

The case of Bennett vs. Harcourt and Kney occupied the boards in circuit court today. Bennett, driver of a township school wagon in district No. 5 in Orange township sued Harcourt and Kney for the small amount of $7 to pay for hauling Miss Flora, the daughter of Kney to school during the term.

Miss Flora Kney who lives in another township, came to her brother-in-law's (Harcourt's) home and went to school during the winter. Bennett's contract called for him to haul all of the school children in district No. 5 to their schools. He contended that Miss Kney was not in her district and insisted on charging for his work. Harcourt and Kney refused to pay and the case was first heard before a justice of the peace and then brought into the circuit court.

The court instructed the jury to decide in favor of the defendant in case they determined that the young woman's home was with her brother-in-law, but that it was a different case if that was not her home.

ABBERLEY SAYS NO TO FORTUNE TELLER

No Such Acts Will be Permitted at the Church Bazaar in Progress.

BAN PUT ON OTHER THINGS

The fortune telling act was not a part of the program at the bazaar, presided over by the Ladies Aid Society of the Main Street Christian church, and will not be as announced. Rev. R. W. Abberley said today that the announcement given the papers last night that "fortunes" would be told was not authorized by the Society and that kind of entertainment along with "grab-bags," "fish ponds" and games of chance would not be tolerated by the Main Street Christian church. There are plenty of nice Christmas articles and fancy work, curios and candy on display, but no "fortune telling."

HIGHER COURT GETS CASE

Mandamus Proceedings Instituted in Brick Paving Matter.

Mandamus proceedings have been instituted in the circuit court by the petitioners for the paving of Main street, by A. B. Irvin, relator. The petition was properly filed in the commissioners court, but that body did not see fit to appoint viewers, as required by law, to report on the matter of it being a public utility and to specify the kind of material to be used.

MAKES ASTONISHING CURES

Mi-o-na Tablets Cure Dyspepsia by Promptly Removing the Cause, or Money Back.

Mi-o-na is a scientific and effective remedy for the permanent cure for indigestion.

Food digested in the stomach by means of a churning movement of the walls of the stomach, which thoroughly mixes the food with the gastric or stomach juices.

If the muscular walls are flabby and lack tone or energy, the stomach cannot churn the food properly, and the digestive juices are not properly mixed with the food.

This causes indigestion. The common symptoms are: weight and fullness after meals, coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, discharges of wind from the mouth, and belching of sour material.

Dyspepsia cannot be cured by taking a digester, such as pepsin, because pepsin simply digests your food artificially, and not all of the food either, for it has no effect at all on starchy food, such as potatoes, rice oatmeal, bread, etc.

There is just one way to cure dyspepsia and stomach disorders, trivial or serious, and that is to tone up or put energy into the stomach walls, so that they will be able to properly mix or churn the food.

Mi-o-na tablets cure stomach troubles by putting strength and energy into the stomach. They quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction, and in a short time it is able to do its work properly.

And bear in mind that when the stomach is in good condition, constipation disappears, also nervousness, drowsiness, night sweats, heartburn, etc.

F. B. Johnson & Co. the druggists, sells Mi-o-na tablets under a rigid guarantee to do all that is claimed for them, or money back.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect acceptable to the system and gentle, yes prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by druggists. Price fifty cents.

Missing Word Contest!

Conditions and Rules.
Read Each Ad. Carefully.
In several of the advertisements on this page there has been a word left out purposely. Read all of the ads carefully and see if you can find the missing word.
To the first person who finds these words and brings or sends them to the Daily Republican office we will give one dollar in cash.
No answers received by telephone!

Answers for the Contest will be received either in person or by mail the next day following from 7:45 to 10:45 a. m. For example, Saturday's answers are received Monday morning; Monday's answers are received Tuesday morning. We go to the postoffice at 10:45 each morning for all answers mailed up to that time.

Write on one side of the paper only, giving the word and name of the firm's advertisement from which the words are missing. Write your name and address plainly on the paper. Seal in a plain envelope and bring or mail to the "Missing Word Editor, Daily Republican," so it will reach us on the days specified to receive the answers for that particular contest.

READ ALL THE ADVERTISEMENTS CAREFULLY.
A one dollar prize will be given every day for five weeks. In event no one makes a correct guess on any one day, the dollar will be added to the prize of the following day, making two dollars for the correct answer the next day, three dollars for the third day if no correct answer is brought in on the previous days, and so on.
Such words as "and," "the," "is," "from," "to," "in" and words of that nature will not be omitted from the advertisements. There may be two, three or four words missing from the ads on any one day, so read them all carefully.

Pianos?
Why not present your family with a Krell-French piano about Christmas? You are not treating yourself right or your children if you do not give them a chance to learn music. Some day they may be put out in the world to make their own livelihood, and it is a nice accomplishment to be able to go into the home and make money teaching music lessons.
I do not say I have the only piano on the market but do say I have as good as there is made and can save you money. Then why not buy of me.

CHICAGOIAN BUYS INDIANAPOLIS STAR

Star League Now in the Hands of John S. Shaffer, Owner of Chicago Post.

WILL NOT TALK ABOUT POLICY

John S. Shaffer, publisher of the Chicago Evening Post and formerly at the head of the street car system of Indianapolis, announced that he has purchased the newspaper properties embraced in the Star League and composed of the Indianapolis Star, the Terre Haute Star and the Muncie Star. He refused to state the consideration or to discuss the policy that the papers would pursue.

AMUSEMENTS

The stirring film, "The Lights and Shadows of Chinatown" will be shown at the Grand theater tonight. This film portrays the real life lived by many residents of a place of this character. The illustrated song, "Sometime, When Dreams Come True," will be sung by Miss Iva Brown.

The special vaudeville attraction tonight will be Billy Franklin, the black face comedian in singing and dancing.

Large crowds were in attendance at the Vaudet last night, and it was conceded by all to be one of the best programs ever presented. The talking pictures made a decided impression, being an extra strong subject, conceived from Burn's poem, entitled "The Bridge of Sighs," depicting a story alive with heart throbs and presented in an intelligent manner by the "talking picture artists."

A new subject tonight in addition to the same talking pictures.

BY THE WAYSIDE

The little tot insisted on breaking away from his mother, but as it was in a toy shop the mother feared that the little one would break something. He kept pulling and tugging until the mother inquired:

"What is it you want, dearie?"

"I want to shake hands with Santa Claus," he exclaimed with childish glee.

The "Santa Claus" was W. W. Jones, father of Roy Jones, who is assisting at the 99 cent store during the Xmas rush,

An exchange says they have invented a new kind of social amusement. It is called an "avoidupois party." All the girls are weighed and the weight of each written on a piece of paper and put into a hat and the young men must draw. The young man must go to supper with the young lady whose weight he draws and must pay for her supper at one-half cent per pound. It is very exciting, so far as the young men are concerned.

BY CITY BOARD OF HEALTH

John Thomas, son of J. Q. Thomas of this city, has been appointed to a position in the city dispensary in Indianapolis by the Board of Health. Mr. Thomas' picture appeared in the Indianapolis Star this morning with the following article:

T. R. Bass of St. Louis and J. B. Thomas of Rushville have been appointed by the Board of Health to externe positions in the City Dispensary. They are seniors in the Indiana University School of Medicine. Mr. Bass is a member of the Phi Rho Sigma, medical fraternity, and both are prominent in school circles. They will serve for a period of six months.

ARE MAKING PREPARATIONS

To Hold Local Option Election in Greensburg.

The executive committee of the Voters' League held a meeting at the Christian church Tuesday evening, says the Greensburg Review, and after canvassing the situation carefully it was decided to have petitions prepared for a local option election. The work of securing signers to the petition will begin at once, and it is hoped that everything will be ready to present it to the commissioners at the February term. Nothing else of importance was done at the meeting.

SURPRISED WITH MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

[Contributed.]

A miscellaneous shower was given Mrs. Orba Jackson on Friday night, Dec. 4, at the home of Mr. Andrew Thompson, Gowdy.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were much surprised on their arrival home to find forty-three of the neighbors and friends gathered to give them a final farewell and to express their good wishes. They received a number of very pretty and useful articles.

Mr. Bransen and two sons furnished music for the evening; refreshments were served.

Mrs. Jackson was formerly Miss Eva Land. They left Saturday morning for Madison, their future home. While we regret to give up Mr. and Mrs. Jackson yet we trust they will be happy in their new home.

PRIZE DROPS INTO CAMP OF THE KINGS

Mrs. George W. King Guessed Missing Words in the Contest Last Night.

MANY ANSWERS RECEIVED

The largest batch of letters received for the Missing Word contest came this morning and among the many letters there were but four correct answers.

Mrs. George W. King of 825 West Tenth street was awarded the prize of two dollars. The missing words were "fine" in Callaghan, Oliver & Co.'s ad. and "Christmas" in Mauzy & Denning's ad.

But two weeks more remain of the contest and it behooves all who wish to pick up a little easy Xmas money to get their thinking clothes on.

XMAS MONEY FOR BOYD

Local Stockman Had His Stocking Filled at Chicago.

Chapter 8

EILEEN settled deeper among her pillows as the table was removed, and Selwyn drew his chair forward.

"What is the matter with Gerald?" she asked. "Could you tell me?"

"Nothing serious is the matter, Eileen."

"Is he not ill?"

"Not very."

She lay still a moment; then, with the slightest gesture, "Come here."

He seated himself near her. She laid her hand fearlessly on his arm.

"Tell me," she demanded. And as he remained silent, "Once," she said, "I came suddenly into the library. Austin and Gerald were there. Austin seemed to be very angry with my brother. I heard him say something that worried me, and I slipped out before they saw me."

Selwyn remained silent.

"Was that it?"

"I don't know what you heard."

"Don't you understand me?"

"Not exactly."

"Well, then," she crimsoned—"has Gerald misbehaved again?"

"What did you hear Austin say?" he demanded.

"I heard—something about dissipation. He was very angry with Gerald. It is not the best way, I think, to become angry with either of us—either me or Gerald—because then we are usually inclined to do it again, whatever it is."

They laughed a little. Her fingers, which had tightened on his arm, relaxed, her hand fell away, and she straightened up, sitting Turk fashion and smoothed her hair, which contact with the pillows had disarranged so that it threatened to come tumbling over eyes and cheeks.

"Oh, hair, hair," she murmured, "you're Nina's despair and my endless punishment. I'd twist and pin you tight if I dared. Some day I will too. What are you looking at so curiously, Captain Selwyn—my mop?"

"It's about the most stunningly beautiful thing I ever saw," he said, still curious.

It was a new note in their cordial intimacy, this nascent intrusion of the personal. To her it merely meant his very charming recognition of her maturity—that she was fast becoming a woman like other women, to be looked at and remembered as an individual and no longer classed vaguely as one among hundreds of the newly emerged whose soft, unexpanded personalities all resembled one another.

For some time now she had cherished this tiny grudge in her heart—that he had never seemed to notice anything in particular about her except when he tried to be agreeable concerning some new gown. The contrast had become the sharper, too, since she had awakened to the admiration of other men. And the awakening was only half convinced happiness mingled with shy surprise that the wise world should really deem her so lovely.

"A red headed girl," she said teasingly. "I thought you had better taste than—that?"

"Than to think you a raving beauty?"

"Oh," she said, "you don't think that!"

As a matter of fact he himself had become aware of it so suddenly that he had no time to think very much about it. It was rather strange, too, that he had not always been aware of it, or was it partly the mellow light from the lamp tinting her till she glowed and shimmered like a young sorceress, sitting so straight there in her turquoise silk and mink lace?

When Drina had gone to bed Boots also took his leave, and Selwyn rose, too, a troubled, careworn expression replacing the careless gaiety which had made him seem so young in Miss Erroll's youthful eyes.

"Wait, Boots," he said. "I'm going home with you." And to Eileen, almost absently: "Good night. I'm so very glad you are well again."

"Good night," she said, looking up at him. The faintest sense of disappointment came over her—at what she did not know. Was it because in his completely altered face she realized the instant and easy detachment from herself and what concerned her? Was it because other people, like Mr. Lansing—other interests, like those which so plainly in his face betrayed his preoccupation—had so easily replaced an intimacy which had seemed to grow newer and more delightful with every meeting?

What was it, then, that he found more interesting, more important, than their friendship, their companionship? Was she never to grow old enough or wise enough or experienced enough to exact—without exacting—his paramount consideration and interest? Was there no common level of mental equality where they could meet—where termination of interviews might be mutual, might be fairer to her?

Now he went away, utterly detached from her and what concerned her, to seek other interests of which she knew nothing; absorbed in them to her utter exclusion, leaving her here with the long evening before her and nothing to do, because her eyes were not yet strong enough to use for reading.

Lansing was saying, "I'll drive as far as the club with you, and then you can drop me and come back later."

"Right, my son. I'll finish a letter and then come back."

"Can't you write it at the club?"

"Not that letter," he replied in a low voice and, turning to Eileen, smiled his absent, detached smile, offering his hand.

But she lay back, looking straight up at him.

"Are you going?"

"Yes. I have several."

"Stay with me," she said in a low voice.

For a moment the words meant nothing; then blank surprise silenced him, followed by curiosity.

"Is there something you wished to tell me?" he asked.

"No."

His perplexity and surprise grew.

"Wait a second, Boots," he said. And Mr. Lansing, being a fairly intelligent young man, went out and down the stairway.

"Now," he said too kindly, too soothingly, "what is it, Eileen?"

"Nothing. I thought—but I don't care. Please go, Captain Selwyn."

"No, I shall not until you tell me what troubles you."

"I can't."

"Try, Eileen."

"Why, it is nothing, truly it is nothing. Only I was—it is so early—only a quarter past 8."

He stood there looking down at her, striving to understand.

"That is all," she said, flushing a trifle. "I can't read, and I can't sew, and there's nobody here. I don't mean to bother you."

"Child," he exclaimed, "do you want me to stay?"

"Yes," she said. "Will you?"

He walked swiftly to the landing outside and looked down.

"Boots," he called in a low voice. "I'm not going home yet. Don't wait for me at the Lenox."

"All right," returned Mr. Lansing cheerfully. A moment later the front door closed below. Then Selwyn came back into the library.

For an hour he sat there telling her the gayest stories and talking the most delightful nonsense, alternating with interesting incursions into serious subjects which it enchanted her to dissect under his confident guidance.

Alert, intelligent, all aquiver between laughter and absorption, she had sat up among her silken pillows, resting her weight on one rounded arm, her splendid young eyes fixed on him to detect and follow and interpret every change in his expression personal to the subject and to her share in it.

His old self again! What could be more welcome? Not one shadow in his pleasant eyes, not a trace of pallor, of care, of that gray aloofness. How joyfully, how young, he was after all!

They discussed or laughed at or mentioned and dismissed with a gesture a thousand matters of common interest

In that swift hour—Incredibly swift unless the hall clock's deadened chimes were mocking time itself with mischievous effrontery.

She heard them, the enchantment still in her eyes. He nodded, listening, meeting her gaze with his smile undisturbed. When the last chime had sounded she lay back among her cushions.

CRUEL WAYSIDE MURDER

Kentucky Schoolgirl Assaulted on Highway Near Home.

Columbia, Ky., Dec. 10.—Near Russell Springs, in Russell county, Mattie Wamue, aged thirteen, daughter of Logan Wamue, was murdered while returning home from school. The school building is located a mile and a half from the Wamue home, and the girl falling to return at the usual time, her parents instituted a hunt for her. They found her body in a woods. She had been struck on the head with a club, and her body dragged about 150 yards from the road into a thick undergrowth.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF COMMERCE ORGANIZED

Important Action Taken at Washington Today.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The organization of the national council of commerce, begun at a meeting held today in the office of Secretary of Commerce and Labor Straus, is expected to prove of far-reaching benefit to the foreign and home trade of the United States. The council is the embodiment of ideas of Secretary Straus whereby it is hoped the commercial world may be brought in closer touch with the departments of the government and utilize their machinery and the valuable information secured by them for the general betterment of trade at home and abroad.

One of the features of the movement is the establishment of a permanent bureau of the council in this city in charge of a capable man who can keep in close touch with the departments that have to do with commercial affairs and advise the various commercial interests of important matters that arise from time to time and affect their welfare.

The president will receive the delegates today, and Secretary and Mrs. Straus will tender a reception to them this evening.

Kieran Seeking a Compromise.

Pittsburg, Dec. 10.—Several men who declared themselves to be representatives of P. J. Kieran, head of the defunct Fidelity Funding company of New York and Chicago, are here attempting to effect a compromise with the several Catholic societies of this diocese who have been made defendants in suits to collect money, growing out of loans placed through Kieran and the funding company. Kieran is still at large.

Relic of Lincoln's Store.

Washington, Dec. 10.—President McDonough, of the National Liquor League of the United States, at the opening session of the sixteenth annual meeting of the organization being held in this city, was presented by the Illinois delegation with a gavel, made from a log said to have been taken from the "general store" in Illinois, in which Abraham Lincoln, it was said, sold liquor.

They Want to Hear Carnegie.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Andrew Carnegie has been subpoenaed to appear before the house ways and means committee to testify in the tariff revision hearings being conducted by the committee.

ABE RUEF'S FATE IN JURY'S HANDS

Close of One of Most Remarkable Trials of Recent Times.

BRIEF RESUME OF THE CASE

Unusual Occurrences That Have Attended the Progress of This Trial

Have Combined to Make it the Most Important Outgrowth of the Civic

Exposure Which Shook San Francisco Officialdom in the Summer of 1906—Trial Now in Its Last Stage

Has Been in Progress 105 Days.

San Francisco, Dec. 10.—One of the most remarkable trials in the history of California will end with the discharge of the jury that is today considering the fate of Abraham Ruef, charged with the bribery of a former supervisor of this city. Both in duration and by reason of the startling and unusual occurrences that have attended its progress, the trial has attained position as the most important outgrowth of the exposures of the summer of 1906, when a grand jury, after hearing the confession of sixteen members of the board of supervisors, returned scores of indictments charging bribery against the supervisors, Mayor E. E. Schmitz, and against Ruef, and against officials of the street railway system, the gas and electric company, two telephone companies, a realty company and a quartette of prize fight promoters.

Ruef has twice appeared to answer one of the scores of indictments pending against him. In the first case wherein he was charged with extorting money from the proprietor of a French restaurant, the defendant pleaded guilty. The case was afterward reversed by the higher courts.

In the second trial, upon a charge of having bribed supervisors in the application of the Parkside Realty company for a trolley franchise, the jury disagreed after seven hours of deliberation.

The pending trial was upon an indictment charging Ruef with bribing former Supervisor John J. Furey. It was commenced on Aug. 26 and therefore has been in progress 105 days, of which at least seventy were actual court days. The jury was not completed until Nov. 6, when the trial was seventy-two days old. Shortly after the trial commenced Frank J. Murphy and Adolph Newburg, two of the attorneys engaged in the defense of Ruef, were indicted upon a charge of attempting to bribe John M. Kelly, a tatesman in one of the Ruef venires.

E. S. Blake, a contractor indicted upon the same charge, was convicted by a jury and afterward confessed. He is still awaiting sentence and the trial of Murphy, in which Blake was the principal witness for the prosecution, is in progress in another department of the superior court.

The attempted assassination of Francis J. Heney, who originally had charge of the case, was perhaps the most startling outcome of the third Ruef trial. Heney was shot in the courtroom on the afternoon of Nov. 13, by Morris Haas, a liquor dealer, who several weeks before in Ruef's second trial, had qualified to a seat in the jury box and whose record as an ex-convict was exposed by Mr. Heney. Haas on the night of Nov. 15 committed suicide in his cell at the county jail by shooting himself with a small derringer which he is believed to have secreted in his shoe. Mr. Heney appeared as a witness yesterday at the trial of Attorney Frank J. Murphy, accused of attempting to bribe a venireman in the Ruef case. The assistant prosecuting attorney, who had not been seen in public since he was shot, appeared to be almost entirely well and walked to the witness stand with a firm step. A slight discoloration of the right cheek marked the spot where the bullet of the would-be assassin had entered. His voice was full and strong, proving the fear of its impairment to have been unwarranted.

The assistant prosecuting attorney, who had not been seen in public since he was shot, appeared to be almost entirely well and walked to the witness stand with a firm step. A slight discoloration of the right cheek marked the spot where the bullet of the would-be assassin had entered. His voice was full and strong, proving the fear of its impairment to have been unwarranted.

ABE RUEF.

mer of 1906, when a grand jury, after hearing the confession of sixteen members of the board of supervisors, returned scores of indictments charging bribery against the supervisors, Mayor E. E. Schmitz, and against Ruef, and against officials of the street railway system, the gas and electric company, two telephone companies, a realty company and a quartette of prize fight promoters.

Ruef has twice appeared to answer one of the scores of indictments pending against him. In the first case wherein he was charged with extorting money from the proprietor of a French restaurant, the defendant pleaded guilty. The case was afterward reversed by the higher courts.

In the second trial, upon a charge of having bribed supervisors in the application of the Parkside Realty company for a trolley franchise, the jury disagreed after seven hours of deliberation.

The pending trial was upon an indictment charging Ruef with bribing former Supervisor John J. Furey. It was commenced on Aug. 26 and therefore has been in progress 105 days, of which at least seventy were actual court days. The jury was not completed until Nov. 6, when the trial was seventy-two days old. Shortly after the trial commenced Frank J. Murphy and Adolph Newburg, two of the attorneys engaged in the defense of Ruef, were indicted upon a charge of attempting to bribe John M. Kelly, a tatesman in one of the Ruef venires.

E. S. Blake, a contractor indicted upon the same charge, was convicted by a jury and afterward confessed. He is still awaiting sentence and the trial of Murphy, in which Blake was the principal witness for the prosecution, is in progress in another department of the superior court.

The attempted assassination of Francis J. Heney, who originally had charge of the case, was perhaps the most startling outcome of the third Ruef trial. Heney was shot in the courtroom on the afternoon of Nov. 13, by Morris Haas, a liquor dealer, who several weeks before in Ruef's second trial, had qualified to a seat in the jury box and whose record as an ex-convict was exposed by Mr. Heney. Haas on the night of Nov. 15 committed suicide in his cell at the county jail by shooting himself with a small derringer which he is believed to have secreted in his shoe. Mr. Heney appeared as a witness yesterday at the trial of Attorney Frank J. Murphy, accused of attempting to bribe a venireman in the Ruef case. The assistant prosecuting attorney, who had not been seen in public since he was shot, appeared to be almost entirely well and walked to the witness stand with a firm step. A slight discoloration of the right cheek marked the spot where the bullet of the would-be assassin had entered. WARM DISCUSSION

House Found Much to Engage It in Census Bill.

Washington, Dec. 10.—For nearly five hours the house of representatives considered the bill providing for the taking of the thirteenth and subsequent decennial censuses, and passed it without material change. From the very outset of the debate, it became evident that the progress of the measure toward passage would be impeded by numerous amendments and by the arguments which they developed. Prolonged, animated and at times heated discussion was precipitated over an amendment by Mr. Gillett of Massachusetts, who sought to have the temporary census force authorized by the bill with the exception of a few minor positions, appointed upon the basis of competitive instead of non-competitive examinations.

The session of the senate was chiefly devoted to the formal presentation of departmental reports and the introduction of bills. Senator Johnston of Alabama introduced a bill to reinstate former Cadets Russell and Weaver, dismissed from the military academy for hazing. He declared that their punishment was excessive and said that every new senator was hazed by being given unimportant assignments and being restricted in his privileges. He did not wish to have the idea go forth that boys' mothers have to look after them after they enter the military academy.

SERIOUS WRECK

Limited Train on Northern Pacific Rolled Into Ditch.

Bismarck, N. D., Dec. 10.—The North Coast Limited on the Northern Pacific went into the ditch near McKenzie, twenty miles east of here, last night, because of spreading rails. The entire train, save the observation car, turned over. One man was killed and many were injured, though on account of the low grade of the embankment the cars rolled over so slowly that few received serious injuries.

Government Sales in "Dry" Town.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 19.—About 550 gallons of moonshine whisky was sold in Atlanta, the government being the seller and the buyers being members of a crowd of nearly two thousand persons attracted by the unusual spectacle of a liquor sale in a "dry" community. The whisky had been seized at illegal stills in Georgia foothills. Bidders paid from $2.25 per gallon to $3.35 and one lot the bidding reached $3.70. This bid, however, was rejected when it was found that the bidder's thirst was bigger than his pocket book and that instead of desiring an entire keg, he wished only to "pay at the rate of $3.70 per gallon for enough to make a few drinks."

Liquor Dealers Take Cheer.

Washington, Dec. 10.—That the wave of opposition throughout the country to the liquor trade seems to be receding, was the keynote of the reports from various state organizations made at the sessions of the National Liquor League. The consensus of opinion expressed at the convention was that the best interests of the liquor trade would be conserved by having the number of saloons limited according to population.

More Work for Uncle Sam.

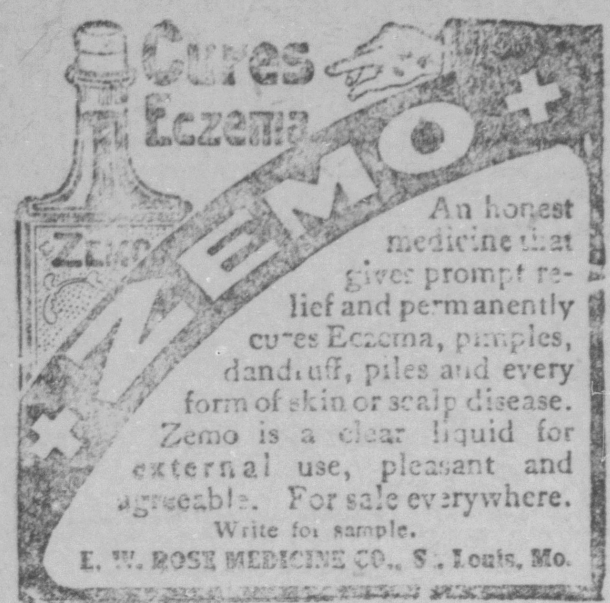

Washington, Dec. 10.—Sentiment in favor of the issuance of government bonds for a comprehensive improvement of the rivers, harbors and canals of the country to the end that this nation shall have the greatest system of waterways in the world, has gained considerable headway at the sessions of the annual meeting of the rivers and harbors congress here.

Sale of Real Estate.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, as commissioner, appointed by the court in No. 9798, Josephine Rucker, administrator, vs. Cordelia Robbins et al., in the Rush circuit court, at the December term, 1908, of said court will sell at private sale, to the highest and best bidder, on Saturday, the 19th day of December, 1908, at the office of Megee & Kiplinger, Rushville, Indiana, the following described real estate in Rush county, Indiana, to-wit:

Beginning at a point that is 23 feet north of the northeast corner of lot number 39 in Fletcher & Tevis' addition to the town of Arlington, Rush county, Indiana, said point being located in the north line of what is known as North street, in said town, and at the southeast corner of the ground owned by the M. E. church in said town; thence in an easterly direction along the north line of said North street a distance of 11 rods, 7 1/2 feet; thence north 8 rods, 12 feet; thence in a northwesterly direction, parallel to the north line of said North street, a distance of 8 rods, 10 1/2 feet; thence in a southwesterly direction a distance of 7 rods, 15 feet to the place of beginning.

Terms of Sale.—One-third cash on day of sale, one-third in six months, one-third in nine months, with privilege of paying all cash. Deferred payments if any, to be evidenced by purchaser's note bearing interest at 6 per cent from date and secured by first mortgage upon property sold.

If said property is not sold on said day, sale will be continued from day to day until sold.

ELMER HUTCHINSON, Commissioner.

INDICTMENTS QUASHED

Five Charges of Forgery Dismissed by Request of Man's Creditors.

Decatur, Ill., Dec. 10.—As a result of a petition by the leading business men and largest creditors of F. B. Tait, who in June, 1907, disappeared from Decatur, leaving behind him debts amounting to about $60,000, five indictments against him charging forgery were nolleed. It is announced that Tait will return and his wife says he will attempt to pay his creditors. The wife gave up an inheritance of $10,000 from her first husband to obtain a settlement.

Two Costly Funerals.

Pekin, Dec. 10.—In accordance with an ancient custom, all the personal effects, clothing, costly furs, etc., belonging to the late Kuang-Hu have been incinerated. This work has been going on for a week past. The property thus destroyed was worth a great deal of money. It is estimated that the post-mortem expenditures in connection with their late majesties will amount to at least six million taels (equal to about $4,200,000). This sum will be paid by the board of finance and the board of rights, but a large contribution to it will be obtained from the treasury of the late empress. Her majesty is reported to have left fabulous wealth behind her. All this property reposes in her personal treasury. The dowager empress will be buried in the spring, when her mausoleum shall have been completed. Her obsequies will cost as much as have those of the emperor. A vast collection of priceless furs and other personal property belonging to her was incinerated in her palace two days ago.

Hale Succeeds Allison.

Washington, Dec. 10.—A caucus of Republican senators, unanimously elected Senator Hale of Maine as chairman of the Republican caucus to succeed the late Senator Allison of Iowa. The position carries with it the chairmanship of the Republican steering committee of the senate, which determines all important legislation in the senate and also imposes the duties of selecting members of the committee on committees, all of them important duties.

FANATIC LEADER STILL AT LARGE

Kansas City Police Puzzled by Sharp's Disappearance.

SAYS HE WILL LIVE FOREVER

Followers of "Adam God," Fanatic Who Precipitated Bloody Street Riot, Declare Their Leader's Serious Wounds Cannot Affect Him, as He Is Immortal—Tragic Affair Has Resulted in a Police Order Prohibiting Further Open-Air Meetings on the Streets of Kansas City.

Kansas City, Dec. 10.—Efforts of the police to find James Sharp, hailed by his ten fanatical followers as "Adam God," a second Messiah, have failed to reveal his movements after Tuesday's bloody fight with the police. The only clue so far secured is that shortly after the tragedy he had his hair trimmed and his long beard shaved off. Chief of Police Ahern has issued circulars giving Sharp's description and offering a reward for his capture. Shortly after the shooting Sharp walked into a saloon, laid down his revolver with the remark, "I am satisfied—I give up." As there was no police present and no one seemed inclined to take him into custody, Sharp waited a moment and then picked up the weapon, reloaded it and walked out. He has not been seen since.

No other names have been added to the list of deaths. Policeman Michael Mulane, who was the most seriously hurt, rallied slightly early in the day and physicians say he has an even chance for recovery. Sergeant Patrick Clark and A. J. Selzo, a bystander, who was shot through the lung, are both slightly improved.

At the general hospital Louis Pratt, first disciple of Sharp and father of the girl who was killed, is lying on his cot with his right leg amputated at the knee and a bullet in his brain. He persists that he is divinely guided and upheld, and is bitter in his denunciation of the police. Regarding his religious faith he has little to say. Mrs. Pratt and her four surviving children are detained at police headquarters, and Mrs. Sharp is in jail. None of them exhibit any emotion when speaking of the death of Lola Pratt, but calmly assert it is God's will. The police say the two women and the two eldest girls, Mary and Lena, will be charged with murder. Five residents of a mission in the north end, frequented by Sharp's followers, are being held for investigation. Sharp's followers declare that their leader's wounds, which were plainly of a serious character, cannot have a fatal termination; that he has had a revelation that he is to live forever.

Chief of Police Ahern announced that this bloody affair would mark an end to street meetings in Kansas City, and he ordered his men to allow no more speakers to address crowds on public thoroughfares.

Birds to Come Under Commerce Act.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Wild geese, wild swans, snipe, plovers, wild pigeons, and other fowls of the air that migrate from north to south, and south to north, may be declared by congress as subject to the interstate commerce laws. Representative Weeks of Massachusetts, introduced a bill today declaring the right of congress to legislate regarding birds that migrate from state to state during the various seasons of the year and authorizing the department of agriculture to promulgate regulations for the protection of the birds.

Whitcap Jury Acquits.

Rushville, Ind., Dec. 10.—Acquittal was the verdict returned in the John B. Tribbey whitcapping cases against Mrs. Leona Tribbey, Charles and Harry McFartridge, Perry Collins, Burl Kennedy and Lafayette Goldman. The jury was out two hours and five minutes. The crime with which the six were charged was the whipping of John B. Tribbey early on the morning of Aug. 5 last, when Tribbey was taken from his bed by masked men, bound to a tree, beaten with a spiked board and then covered with tar and feathers.

Girl's Brave Fight With Thief.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 10.—Blood streaming from five deep gashes in her scalp, nineteen year old Josephine Case battled alone with a diamond thief, armed with a hatchet. Though the robber rained blows upon her head and body, the young woman succeeded in giving an alarm and prevented the man from looting Rowland Russell's jewelry store, where Miss Case is employed. At her home she collapsed from the shock of her experience, but will recover.

No Evidence of Murder.

St. Louis, Dec. 10.—Evidence obtained in the inquiry into the death of Francis D. Hirschberg, the prominent St. Louis citizen who was killed in his home, strengthened the belief of those who think that Mr. Hirschberg committed suicide, and the coroner's inquest was marked by the complete abandonment of the murder theory by friends of the family.

OPTION LAW SUSTAINED

Judge Plummer at Wabash Says It Is Constitutional.

Indianapolis, Dec. 10.—The county local option law was held constitutional at Wabash yesterday in the first test made. The suit was brought by John P. Martin of Wabash, demanding an injunction upon two grounds. The first was that the law is unconstitutional because it is in contravention of Section 1, Article 14 of the constitution of the United States regulating property rights. The second was that the law was unconstitutional in that it was in contravention of certain sections of the Indiana bill of rights guaranteeing due process of law. Upon the first ground Judge Plummer held that the county local option law does not conflict with the United States constitution.

Upon the second contention he said: "Is it not just as much a suspension of the law to refuse all persons a license after a hearing upon a blanket remonstrance as it would be to make it unlawful to grant a license or to assume jurisdiction in an application after the majority of the voters of the county have voted dry? In other words, it would seem to make no difference whether the law which is now in force is suspended by operation of a remonstrance or the operation of an election. In either event the operation of the law is suspended by authority of the general assembly. In one case it may be suspended by remonstrance of legal voters. In the other by an election wherein a majority of legal voters vote for its suspension."

Woman Under Serious Charge.

Toledo, O., Dec. 10.—Mrs. Josephine Kendall, aged sixty-five, of Fostoria, O., was brought to Toledo late yesterday afternoon in custody of Deputy United States Marshal Owens, who arrested the woman on a charge that she swore falsely in order to secure a pension. The arrest was made upon a requisition from Joseph P. Kealing, United States attorney for the district of Indiana, and Mrs. Kendall was taken to Indianapolis, the grand jury there having indicted her on four counts.

Delph Trial in Progress.

Laporte, Ind., Dec. 10.—The trial of William Delph, charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Meacham of Kokomo, is in progress in the circuit court here. Delph had quarreled with his brother-in-law, Edward Feightner, and while in a passion started to hunt for him with a shotgun. Mrs. Meacham, Feightner's mother, started after her son to protect him and was just behind him when Delph fired, the full load striking her in the back.

CHURCH BAZAAR IN CHURCH BASEMENT

Showy Booths Arranged Artistically and Orchestra to Furnish an Elaborate Program.
REFRESHMENTS TO BE SERVED
The ladies holding the bazaar in the basement of the Main Street Christian church this afternoon and evening and tomorrow afternoon and evening report a promising prospect of a delightful success.
The large room has been tastefully decorated with the several showy booths filled with articles of fancy work and ornaments, the whole of which makes a very pleasing display.
The public is cordially invited to be present this evening with the whole membership of the church to enjoy a social evening.
Good music will enliven the occasion, furnished by Harry Lucas' orchestra.
Elaborate refreshments will be served by the ladies in charge of the Baltimore dairy.

TO MAKE CHILDREN HAPPY

On Christmas Day With the Proceeds From Social.
The Young Ladies Missionary Society of St. Paul's M. E. church will give a social in the church Monday night, December 14. An admission of ten cents will be charged and the proceeds will be used to give the poor children of this city a happy Christmas. The enterprise is worthy the patronage of the people of this city. The young ladies will attempt to fill some of the stockings which have always been empty on former Christmas morns.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis of near Richland entertained the Richland Club at dinner yesterday, says the Greensburg News. The house and table were beautifully decorated in keeping with the Christmas tide, and an elegant dinner consisting of several courses was served. Mr. and Mrs. Davis proved themselves ideal entertainers and will be sadly missed from this pleasant club when they go to their new home in Rushville.
Mrs. George T. Aultman entertained this afternoon at bridge whist in honor of her guest, Mrs. Isabel Daubenspeck of Bloomington, Ind.
The Thursday Evening club will give a dance tonight in the Modern Woodman hall. An Indianapolis orchestra will furnish the music.
Ready in a jiffy, easy to prepare, a good, hearty breakfast is Mrs. Austins famous pancakes.
Run Over by an Ox Team.
It is seldom that we hear of ox teams nowadays, but there are many people who feel so lazy and dupish that if an ox team came along they would not feel able to get out of the way. For such people there is no remedy equal to Sexine Pills, the great nerve and body builders. Price $1.00 a box; six boxes $5.00, with full guarantee. Address or call Hargrove & Mullin, Rushville. This is the store that sells all the principal remedies and does not substitute.

SPIRIT OF MARS REIGNED IN MILROY

And Blows Were Rained According to the Charges of Edward Fisher.
The spirit of Mars reigned at Milroy last night and a fistie encounter resulted. Ed Fisher and Burt Newbold had a "hot" discussion over a gas bill, and after a number of "burning" retorts back and forth, Fisher charges that Newbold attacked him.
The case will be tried before Squire Richey and several Rushville attorneys have been employed in the case.

Electricity for Lightning
The City Water and Light Plant, through its representatives, desires to solicit your patronage and will be glad to confer with consumers relative to economical, private lighting of stores, residences, etc., etc. The Superintendent will consider it a great favor if you will call him up and state your needs or desires. The new system of lighting by electricity is the cheapest, most practical and satisfactory of all lighting systems, and will please and satisfy you if given a trial.
We will promise you a "square deal" as we see it. You can select and purchase your own fixtures and wires and contract your wiring with any competent contractor you desire, the only requirement is that all work be done in accord with the rules of the Board of Underwriters, or the City will do your work, as you may elect.
CITY WATER AND LIGHT PLANT, A. T. Mahin, Superintendent.

Gillette Razors for Xmas.

Carthage, Ind., Dec. 10, 1908.
Dear John:
Am coming home for Christmas. Have just bought something for mother—the best ever—a new policy in the Mass. Mutual Life. Better talk it over with Folsom at Rushville and find what he can do for you. He will show you rates from $10.50 per thousand up. You can't do better. Take my advice and get in while you can. My regards to your folks.
Truly your friend,
HARRY.
